

VBS MAD LIB GAME

Use the VBS-themed Mad Lib game on the following page for a fun social-distanced activity to play with your kids! Underneath each blank line in the story, there is a prompt for the type of word you need. One at a time, ask kids to help you fill in the blanks, but only tell them the prompt, not the title, theme, or sentence. Write down kids' answers in the blank, then read your Mad Lib VBS Story to the kids once all of the blanks are filled in. It's sure to get some laughs!

We played Mad Libs one week during Hoops, a brilliant social-distanced event for kids that my children's pastor created! Want to learn more details about hosting your own Hoops event? Find more details + more social-distance-friendly games here!

My Week at VBS Mad Libs

One _____ summer, _____ hosted (adjective) (name of a church)

VBS. The theme was _____ and _____.
(adjective) (adjective)

_____ was the worship leader and wore a (Name of a person)

_____ _____ every day. There were _____ (adjective) (piece of clothing) (number)

kids there, and we learned all about _____.
(person, place, or plural thing)

We sang _____ songs and played with _____.
(adjective) (adjective)

_____. We even collected _____ _____ (plural thing) (number) (plural thing)

for the mission offering to help _____ people in (adjective)

_____. The snack each day was _____.
(place or location) (food)

At the end of the week, each _____ kid took home a/an (adjective)

_____. This VBS was so fun, and I (adjective) (thing)

can't wait for next year!